

Press Release

Dainty automatic – the super flat trekking umbrella

Nowadays, modern trekking umbrellas are part of the basic equipment of every hiker and tourer. The advantages are obvious: No more heat- induced sweating in so called breathable clothes, compact when closed and easy to store. In other words: you can always rely on a proper trekking umbrella if it starts raining or against heat and UV radiation. Eberhard Goebel GmbH+Co.KG from Germany is the leading producer of such umbrellas – internationally known under the brand name EuroSCHIRM®. Meanwhile the range of products comprises many different models, each with a special feature or innovation.

The latest innovation of Eberhard Göbel GmbH+Co.KG is the Dainty automatic, which is strong, small and fully automatic. This new trekking umbrella convinces with its extremely compact and flat condition when closed – only around 22 cm short and 3,5 cm flat. When opened, the canopy surprises with its large size, the diameter comes with around 93 cm.

Technical details:

Reliable automatic open and close function, strong metal shaft (4 parts and corrosion resistant), 6 highly flexible ribs with a combination of metal and glass fibres, ABS handle with Senosoft surface and practical adjustable strap.

Extra light and tear-resistant polyester fabric, dirt and water repellent, double seams between the panels prevent the canopy from quickly tearing out in the wind, extra short tips minimise the risk of injury.

Robust Nylon sleeve case with carry loop that allows it to be attached to your backpack or belt easily, aluminium-carabiner for alternative mounting
